Hello, I am Sean Brown, Know as Seani in the forums. I live in South Africa, a programmer by trade working with Universe. That is a self contained database environment all on its own so I can't share my business apps I have written all my working years, but I appreciate Liberty Basic as an avenue of sharing my endeavours. You will find programs I have written in LB downloads under Database, games and open source. I have a personal web page, still under construction at freewebs, but currently contains some full programs for download (no source available there yet, but you can find that at LB downloads).
